

FAMILY PLANNING MEDICAID

is for men, too!

Family Planning Medicaid helps men take charge of their reproductive health.

Reproductive health is an important aspect of men's overall health and wellness. Taking care of your reproductive health helps to ensure that you are able to take part in healthy relationships and can maintain a healthy lifestyle. By paying attention to your reproductive health, you can reduce your risk of serious problems such as erectile dysfunction, infertility, and even certain types of cancers. Taking time to learn about your reproductive health and talking to your doctor about any questions or concerns you have is an important step toward maintaining your health.
